

Oddities in Coats

WHEN coats left the straight and narrow way of fitted lines to meander in paths vague and indefinite, they were sure to find in new places. This they have done, presenting many models for spring that are interesting and original as well as attractive. In spite of vagaries of style, these new ideas have been worked out in a practical way, so that they are not forgetful of the chief end of coats, which is service.

Two among these new arrivals are shown in the illustration above, both conforming to the season's demand for ample flowing lines, capacious sleeves, and length that envelops the figure from chin to ankles, or at least somewhere near the ankles. The coat at the right goes even farther and is provided with a draped hood that is capable of covering the hat. It is a handsome model in a light, sturdy coating, that is rainproof, very practical for all-round wear in springtime. Its fullness is disposed of in plaits, so that it hangs straight at the back, with loose belt across the front, and easy raglan sleeves.

The model at the left is as much like a mantle or dolman as it is like a coat, and utilizes one of the soft, pile fabrics that make so strong a place for themselves in the esteem of women. It hangs in plaits at the bottom and features the most capacious of sleeves along with the most original of collars.

TO MAKE PUBLIC HOSPITAL WORK DAY OF MAY 12

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Ill., April 5.—Work of the 9000 hospitals of the United States and Canada in caring for the sick and unfortunate will be brought to public attention on the first "National Hospital Day," according to plans of hospital heads co-operating to this end in a national hospital day committee. The date set is May 12, the 101st anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, pioneer in modern hospital and nursing methods.

The purpose of the day, it is announced, is to make the public better acquainted with the human side of the institutions and to have the people come and see for themselves how the sick are cared for, and how young women are equipped for the profession of nursing.

Each hospital is to have its own program, but the day in general will be featured by an "open house," inspection of the hospital and school for nursing, graduation of pupil nurses, etc.

Lewis A. Sexton, superintendent of the Hartford hospital, of Hartford, Conn., is chairman of the national committee. It is organizing sub-committees in each state and province.

AUSTRIANS LOOT GRAIN BARGES

(By Associated Press)
VIENNA, Austria, April 5.—Whole-sale looting of grain barges bound for Jugo-Slavia to Vienna has led to more than 100 arrests. According to the newspapers, the sailors have an arrangement with the illicit dealers. They sound the siren to indicate what kind of cargo they carry, the smugglers put off in boats and buy all they want, which is resold through the left hand trade at an advance.

U. S. NAVY PLACES HUGE EGG ORDER

(By Associated Press)
VALPARAISO, Chile, April 5.—Of scores of the supply ships which accompanied the United States Pacific fleet on its recent South American cruise struck a staggering blow to the pride of local produce merchants when 1,000,000 eggs were ordered for use.

TRADES SCHOOL IS PLANNED FOR WESTERN AFRICA

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, April 5.—Purchase of 3000 acres of farm land in Portuguese West Africa for a demonstration farm and trades school for African negroes on the model of Hampton and Tuskegee institutes has been made by the board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, it is announced here by the church's committee on conservation and advance.

The high cost of living in Africa since the war has caused real hardship to the native population, missionaries report. Cotton cloth and iron tools cost five times more than in 1914. Before the war, plantations hands wore three or four yards of cloth around them, now only a half a yard is used and many natives wear only the skin of some bush cat or gazelle.

A brewing plant situated on the coast and operated by water power will be converted by the Methodists into a sugar mill.

Establishment of the farm and trades school forms part of a plan to raise the economic status of the African natives, which investigation found to be necessary for successful mission work on a large scale among them, says the announcement.

The property was acquired in accordance with the Methodist Episcopal century program for Africa, which calls for a chain of six such institutes in central Africa, one for each Methodist mission conference there.

Among trades to be taught in addition to farming, animal husbandry and horticulture will be carpentry, brick-making, masonry, broom-making and furniture-making. Agricultural experts have been sent out and a civil engineer sailed recently to direct construction and industrial training.

the 15,000 bluejackets on the return to American waters.

Egg laying is not at high tide in these latitudes at this season and it is doubtful whether the Valparaiso merchants were able to fill one third of the big order.
